

A Moment with Donna....April Showers & Disneyland

April showers. They definitely have been coming into and through the Pacific Northwest. In between the showers, we get balmy days of almost 70 degrees that let us know summer is not far away. I think we all are ready for more sunshine and flowers.

The last day of April Disneyland opened to scores of people. Some of them arrived at 3:00 am, camping outside so they would be the first inside this beloved amusement park. People were actually crying with joy at this opening after 14 months of being closed to the public. The excitement and cheers when the gates opened was amazing to hear.

Cabin fever, as it is so fondly called in Alaska, occurs after long winter months of isolation. It has hit our nation big-time; as I'm sure it has other people around the world. We all are ready to be out and about enjoying this wonderful time of the year.

I was sent this video clip, <https://www.youtube-nocookie.com/embed/xHkqJedcbk4?rel=> and wanted to share it as I felt it was perfect for this April newsletter. It is beautifully done and makes one aware of the phenomenal gifts that nature brings. BZ of Washington sent it and the final portion of this video compliments an interview I did in April with a woman who biked over 10,000 miles to follow the migration of the magnificent Monarch Butterflies. Are you aware that the primary food for Monarch Butterflies is the milk thistle? I wasn't. If you are a gardener you might want to plant some so when it comes to migration season, they'll visit your yard.

One of the most significant parts of the authors biking experience was the wonderful interaction with people, mostly strangers, from Mexico to the United States, all the way up into Canada, and back down to Mexico. This young woman was resourceful, and no matter where she biked she found abundance, actually an overwhelming abundance of support, from just about everyone she met. They wanted to know her story and all about the adventures she was experiencing.

As we evolve out of this challenging year, we need to reinvest in ourselves, our communities, and whatever environments we choose to associate with. Put fear in your back pocket and sit on it. Like the biker I interviewed we need to have faith that we can take the negative and turn it into something positive, enjoying the process.

Spring is here. Embrace her showers of liquid gold, count your blessings and step forward with enthusiasm into the bright sunshine that stays with us longer and longer each day.

Enjoy the 3-L's...Love, Light, and Laughter...they are free and available to all of us.

This month we also honor mothers everywhere.

Celebrate life. By the way, you don't have to go to Disneyland to do it, although it is a nice option.

Have a fabulous spring!

Power Thought for May

“I think over again my small adventures, my fears, these small ones that seemed so big. For all those vital things I had to get and to reach and yet there is only one great thing. The only thing to live and see the great day that dawns and the light that fills the world.” ~Inuit Song

Golden Nuggets – True Stories About Real People

A woman in a faded gingham dress and her husband, dressed in a homespun, threadbare suit, stepped off the train in Boston, and walked timidly without an appointment into the Harvard University President's outer office.

The secretary could tell in a moment that such backwoods, country hicks had no business at Harvard and probably didn't even deserve to be in Cambridge. She frowned. "We want to see the President," the man said softly.

"He'll be busy all day," the secretary snapped. "We'll wait," the lady replied. For hours, the secretary ignored them, hoping that the couple would finally become discouraged and go away. They didn't and the secretary grew frustrated and finally decided to disturb the President, even though it was a chore she always regretted. "Maybe if they just see you for a few minutes, they'll leave," she told him. He sighed in exasperation and nodded.

Someone of his importance obviously didn't have the time to spend with them, but he detested gingham dresses and homespun suits cluttering up his outer office.

The President, stern-faced with dignity, strutted toward the couple. The lady told him, "We had a son who attended Harvard for one year. He loved Harvard. He was happy here. But about year ago, he was accidentally killed and my husband and I would like to erect a memorial to him...somewhere on campus."

The President wasn't touched, he was shocked. "Madam," he said gruffly, "we can't put up a statue for every person who attended Harvard and died.

If we did, this place would look like a cemetery." "Oh no," the lady explained quickly. "We don't want to erect a statue. We thought we would like to give a building to Harvard." The president rolled his eyes. He glanced at the gingham dress and homespun suit, and then exclaimed, "A building! Do you have any earthly idea how much a building costs? We have over seven and a half million dollars in the physical plant at Harvard.

"For a moment the lady was silent. The president was pleased. He could get a rid of them now. And the lady turned to her husband and said quietly, "Is that all it costs to start a university? Why don't we just start our own?" Her husband nodded. The President's face wilted in confusion and bewilderment.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stanford walked away, traveling to Palo Alto, California where they established the university that bears their name, a memorial to a son that Harvard no longer cared about.

You can easily judge the character of others by how they treat those who can do nothing for them or to them.

What's Your Story?

I am in the process of putting together a publication "Stories People Tell Me". I have had a number of submissions and I am looking for an additional 25 stories about paranormal experiences, UFO's, aura's and the unique and unusual not logical happenings that make us aware that life is anything but boring. Please send submissions to donnaseebo@comcast.net. Do send your contact information as well (phone number, etc.) Thank you.

The Recipe Box...A Recipe for a Miracle

RECIPE FOR A MIRACLE – Submitted by Mrs. Gaskins, Virginia

- 1 cup Tension
- 2 cups Stress
- 1 teaspoon of Guilt
- 2 heaping cups of Limited Time
- 3/4 tablespoon of Urgency
- A dash of "No Other Choice"
- 3 heaping cups of Faith

Fold ingredients gently into a bowl. Mix vigorously and add a few tears. You'll sweat a little as you knead the dough. Pack it firmly between your hopes and dreams and form into a perfect little ball. Sprinkle it with a little faith, rolling the ball in the flour until fully covered. Place it under a veil of belief and allow it to rise.

Put it in an oven that has been pre-set at the perfect temperature for the heat of trials and tribulations. Allow it to brown under the warmth of God's love. Remove after due season and allow to cool in the confidence of His promise.

Garnish with your praises. Arrange neatly on a platter of thankfulness and serve to friends, families and, oh yes, strangers . . . invite them too!

Pass on the recipe to all who request it and let them know that with this recipe, they have the makings of a miracle!
